

Postal History of Ottoman Sanitary Administration

Prof. Dr. Atadan TUNACI

Atadan Tunacı was born in 1965 Denizli, Turkey. He graduated from Kabataş High School in 1982. He graduated from Istanbul University Faculty of Medicine in 1988. He started his radiology residency training at Istanbul University Faculty of Medicine in 1989 and in 1994 he became radiologist. He became associate professor of radiology in 1998 and radiology professor in 2004. He is currently a lecturer at Istanbul University Faculty of Medicine, Department of Radiodiagnostics. Thoracic radiology, prostate cancer diagnosis and imaging, uro-oncological imaging, cancer imaging, deep neural networks and artificial intelligence are among his scientific interests.

He is a postal history collector for 17 years. He owns numerous international golden pieces and golden award-medals. He has written two international articles on postal history. He is a Fellow of Royal Philathelic Society London. He is a board member of Federation of Philatelic Associations of Turkey (Türkiye Filateli Dernekleri Federasyonu [TFDF]). He is a founding member of Turkish Philathelic Academy (Türkiye Filateli Akademisi).

He has international collections about Postal History of Ottoman Railroads, Postal Competition in the Ottoman Seas, Ottoman Field Posts, Ottoman-Iranian Postal Relations, Ottoman Quarantine Posts, Postal History of Turkish War of Independence, Turkish Postal History of Cyprus, Russo-Turkish War, Ottoman Prephilatelic Posts, newspaper posts, Balkan Wars, Hijaz Fiscal Stamps.

